Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1, 3, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Publication No. 2003/0218995 A1 to Kim et al. (Kim) in view of U S Patent No. 6,963,745 B2 to Singh et al. (Singh).

Regarding claims 1 and 3, Kim discloses a method and apparatus for taking measurements in a mobile telecommunications system, the system comprising a network of a plurality of cells and at least one user equipment device (par. 3), the method comprising, at the user equipment device: receiving a measurement control set-up command; in response setting up the measurements (par. 44); monitoring for a change in state of the UE and, in response to a change in state (pars. 48-52, and 89-90, UTRAN monitors the quality of system). Kim further discloses the use of RRC layer and layer 1 in transmitting commands messages (see fig. 4).

However, Kim fails to disclose issuing a measurement control pause command; on receipt of a measurement control pause command, stopping taking measurements and maintaining the measurement settings initialized previously; monitoring for a change in state of the UE and, in response to a change in state, issuing a measurement control resume command; and on receipt of a measurement control resume command, resuming taking measurements with the maintained measurement settings.

Singh discloses issuing a measurement control pause command; on receipt of a measurement control pause command, stopping taking measurements (col. 11 lines 9-22) and maintaining the measurement settings initialized previously (col. 11 lines 10-13); monitoring for a change in state of the UE and, in response to a change in state, issuing a measurement control resume command; and on receipt of a measurement control resume command, resuming taking measurements with the maintained measurement settings (col.12 lines 26-64).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the invention of Kim, and have a measurement control pause command; on receipt of a measurement control pause command, stopping taking measurements and maintaining the measurement settings initialized previously; monitoring for a change in state of the UE and, in response to a change in state, issuing a measurement control resume command; and on receipt of a measurement control resume command, resuming taking measurements with the maintained measurement settings as disclosed by Singh for the purpose of measurement recording (col. 5 line 55-col. 6 line 17).

Regarding claim 5, the combination of Kim and Singh discloses a user device comprising apparatus according to claim 3 (see figure 1).
